

University of North Georgia: Responding to At-Risk Behavior

Any faculty or staff member who observes or receives information (in person or electronically) about observed or potential self-destructive, violent, destructive, disruptive, or disorderly behavior should follow the guidelines below. Online reporting of concerns is available by clicking on the “Report a Concern” button on the main UNG webpage. A designation of “Critical” means that imminent danger is currently happening or could happen at any moment. A designation of “Non-Critical” means that there is a risk of danger in the future. Please follow the guidelines below for when and how to report and when to call immediately.
